

LOWELL MASS. SATURDAY MAY 17 1913

THREE LOWELL MEN ENTER PRIESTHOOD

Rev. Jas. J. McCartin and Rev. Jos. A. Bolduc of Oblate Order and Rev. Jas. J. Bradley

Three Lowell young men were ordained to the priesthood this morning at St. John's seminary in Brighton, by Rt. Rev. Bishop Joseph G. Anderson, D. D. The ceremony was private and was attended only by the immediate families of the young priests. The Lowell young men who received orders as priests are Rev. Joseph McCartin, O. M. I., Rev. James Joseph Bradley and Rev. Joseph A. Bolduc, O. M. I.

Rev. C. W. Webb, O. M. I. of Buffalo, N. Y., who is pursuing his theological studies at the "Newbury" novitiate, was also ordained, while minor orders were conferred on the following: Rev. T. J. Loftus, O. M. I., Peterboro, Que.; deacon; Rev. W. P. Haley, O. M. I., South Boston; deacon; Rev. C. A. Fallon, O. M. I., Cornwall, Ont., deacon; and Rev. J. R. Jolbert, O. M. I., Lowell, deacon.

Rev. James Joseph McCartin, O. M. I., is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick McCartin of 116 Pleasant street, a well known conductor in the employ of the Bay State Street Railway company. He was born in Lowell on January 13, 1885, and received his early education in the schools of this city. For a number of years he was an altar boy in the Immaculate Conception church.

At the age of 13 he went to the Holy Angels college in Buffalo, N. Y., and from there came to the Oblate novitiate in Tewksbury, where he pursued his theological studies. Present at the ordination this morning were his father and mother, his brother, Frank, and three sisters, Etta, Catherine and Mrs. Annie Moore. The young priest will celebrate his first mass at the Immaculate Conception church at 11 o'clock tomorrow morning, and following the church service a family dinner will be served at the home of the parents, 116 Pleasant street. The young Oblate will return to Tewksbury for another year.

Rev. Joseph Arthur Bolduc, O. M. I., is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Zephrynn Bolduc of 114 Pleasant street. It is a large family, the upper part, while the McCartin family live down stairs in the same building on Pleasant street, so two priests from the same house were ordained on the same day.

Rev. Fr. Bolduc is a native of Montreal, and he will be 26 years of age on September 8. He came to Lowell at the age of 12, and attended the Holy Angels college in Buffalo, N. Y., where he completed his classical studies. He later entered the Oblate novitiate in Tewksbury, and has more than one year of theological studies.

The young priest will celebrate his first mass at St. Joseph's church, this city, at 10:30 o'clock tomorrow morning, and in the afternoon a family dinner will be served at the home of his parents in Pleasant street. Present at the ordination this morning were his father, his two brothers, Albert and this city, and Emily, a student of the Holy Angels college in Buffalo, and a sister, Alice.

Rev. James Joseph Bradley was born in Lowell about 25 years ago. He received his early education at St. Michael's school, Centralville, and on graduating went to St. Anselm's college, Manchester, N. H., for five years. On completing his studies at St. Anselm's he entered Holy Cross college, Worcester, where he spent two years, going from there to the American college, Rome. Because of ill health he was compelled to return from Rome after one year, and after a short rest he entered St. John's seminary, Brighton.

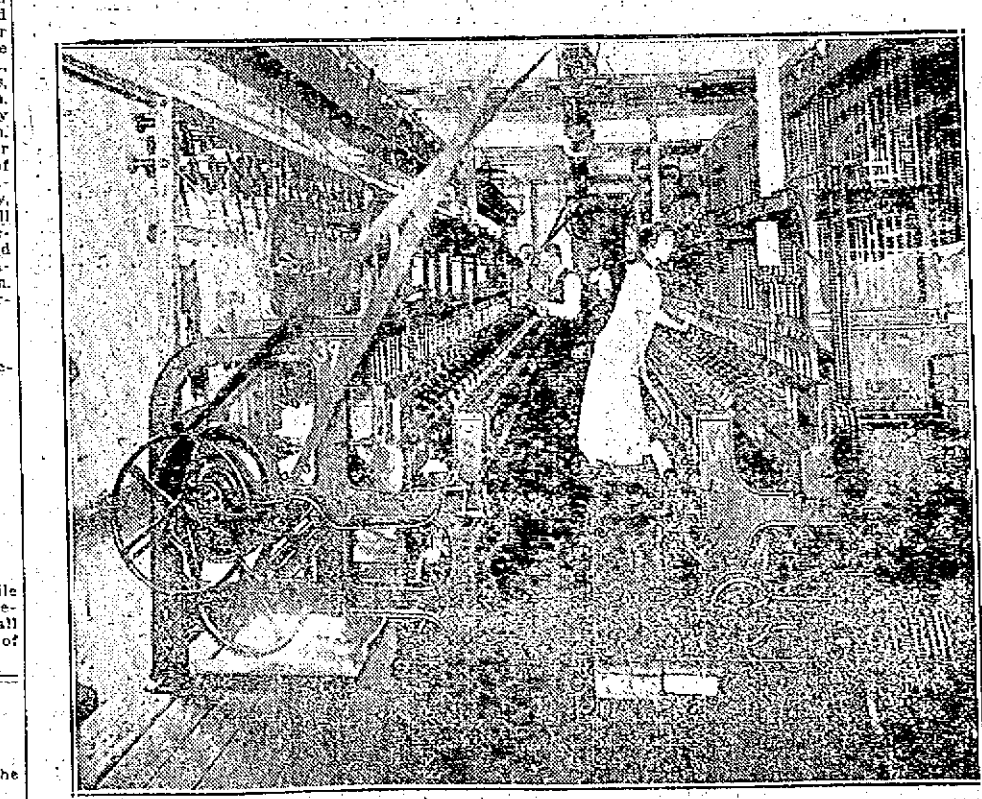

Fr. Bradley is a young man of a most brilliant intellect. He took the first prize for scholarship every year while at St. Anselm's and also won scholarships at Holy Cross, American college, Rome, and St. John's, Brighton. He also won several gold medals, and the professors at the Brighton seminary refer to him as one of the most remarkable young men who has ever attended the seminary. During his college career he was prominent also in athletics, being captain of the football and baseball clubs at St. Anselm's and getting his "H. C." in football at Holy Cross where he played full back on the college team. Fr. Bradley will celebrate mass at the

STRIKERS THREATEN TIEUP IN PATERSON

PATERSON, N. J., May 17.—Threats of a general tie-up, made recently at a mass meeting of silk mill strikers protesting against the conviction of Patrick Quinlan, the Industrial Workers of the World leader, were renewed today with the announcement that Wednesday had been tentatively set as the day for a strike on street car lines and in power houses. The transportation lines and power house facilities of the city are controlled by the public service corporation. Employees of the corporation have heretofore refused to go out in sympathy with the mill hands and it was considered problematical to say just what effect the new appeal of Industrial Workers of the World leaders would have.

ORDERS ENOUGH ON HAND TO WORK DAY AND NIGHT

SECTION OF WORK ROOM IN MORTON SILK MILLS

One of the busiest places in this city at the present time, although very little has been said about it, is the Morton mills in Jackson street, which manufacture narrow fabrics in silk and cotton. The company occupies one of the mills of the Hamilton Mfg. Co., and has orders enough on hand to work day and night if only the skilled help could be secured. The tariff talk, which according to some people, is scaring manufacturers, does not seem to bother the officials of this company, for they claim the tariff would be a great help to them if passed for all duties will be taken off on silk yarns, while on the finished product it will be concluded on page five.

CUBAN AVIATOR FLIES ACROSS FLA. STRAITS

Rosillo Crosses Gulf From Key West to Havana in 2 1-2 Hrs —Wins $10,000 Prize

HAVANA, May 17.—Domingo Rosillo, the Cuban aviator, made the first flight today ever accomplished by a Cuban aviator across the Florida straits from shore to shore. He started from Key West at 8:45 and arrived at Havana at 8:10, making the passage of 90 miles in two hours and 25 minutes.

The announcement of his start from Key West had been given by the discharge of three shots from Cabana fort and when he came into view he was hailed by virtually the whole population of the city, the greater part of whom had gathered along the sea and harbor fronts. Rosillo approached the city flying at an altitude of 2500 feet. He then wheeled toward the west and landed at Camp Columbia. He experienced no difficulty during his flight. The wind was light and there was only a slight haze.

By the accomplishment of this flight Rosillo wins the prize of $10,000 offered by the Havana city council to the first Cuban aviator to cross the straits. J. A. D. Curdy, a Canadian, made a flight across the Florida straits on Jan. 30, 1911, but owing to an accident was compelled to descend in the water ten miles from Havana.

26 ARRESTED AT CINCINNATI

Charged With Disorderly Conduct in Attempt to Stop Cars

Two Men and Youth Were Slightly Injured

CINCINNATI, O., May 17.—Two men and a youth were slightly injured and 26 men were arrested yesterday afternoon charged with disorderly conduct as a result of an attempt to interfere with the operation of one of the lines of the Traction company, whose employees are on strike. The demonstration occurred at Fifth and Walnut streets in the heart of the business portion of the city.

It was precipitated, it was said, by boys overturning a large garbage can in front of a Clifton car, which line resumed service today. A large crowd had assembled to witness the parade of labor unions in sympathy with the strikers and when it was rumored that the motorman of the car had struck a boy with a club, a violent demonstration was started.

Mounted police rode into the crowd and rescued the crew of the car and drove the mob back to the sidewalks. No shots were fired but missiles of various kinds were thrown.

Hurried appeals were sent this morning to Gov. Cox and Adjutant General Wood of Ohio asking that the militia be rushed to this city to take charge of the street car strike situation. This appeal was made by Mayor Hunt after a series of assaults on cars that were not personally conducted by police, as a result of which three men are in the City hospital in a dangerous condition while more than a dozen others were severely beaten.

Four cars were completely wrecked, and the Traction company has been forced to abandon efforts to operate cars in the western section of the town while only a few cars are running through the residential district of Avondale and Walnut hills.

Two telephone requests for troops sent by Mayor Hunt to Gov. Cox brought forth the information that the governor was reluctant to take such action. After the refusal of troops at this time had been made by the governor, the mayor dispatched a telegram to the adjutant general demanding troops and asking that they be sent to the city hall here by ten o'clock tomorrow morning.

Probably the most spectacular attack occurred in the center of the city when a huge steel brace, bars of cement and other missiles were hurled from the upper floors of the Union Central Life Insurance Co. building. Some of the cement came from higher than the 29th floor and several pedestrians were bruised and cut. The car was completely wrecked.

In Madisonville, where the cars were operated today for the first time since the strike began, one of them was attacked, the crew driven off into a nearby woods and the car wrecked. Today for the first time the police did not ride in the cars but they were stationed along all routes at intervals of 50 feet. The Traction company, at noon suspended its attempt to operate cars.

Request For Militia

CINCINNATI, O., May 17.—The street car strike situation having apparently gotten beyond control of the local police, Mayor Hunt today sent a request to Governor Cox and Adjutant-General Wood for militia.

Painful Accident

The ambulance was called to 511 Lincoln street at noon today and removed Michael Corcoran of 314 Middlesex street to the Lowell hospital. He was suffering from an injured right foot, all the toes of the foot having been severely jammed. Although the injury is a very painful one it is not thought that anything serious will develop.

CHANGE ARSON CAMPAIGN

Tenanted House Fired by Suffragettes

LONDON, May 17.—The militant suffragettes this morning made a slight change in their arson campaign. Instead of setting fire to unoccupied houses they attempted to destroy a tenanted residence at Cambridge. The interior woodwork was greatly damaged and one of the university laboratories adjoining also suffered. Another canister of gunpowder and slugs was found at Boxmoor station in Hertfordshire on the London & North Western railroad today.

THE GREEN CASE

TO COME UP ON MANDAMUS PROCEEDINGS

Writ Served on Commissioner. Answered E. Barrett This Afternoon

The case of William J. Green vs. Andrew E. Barrett, the head of the local fire department, will be brought up before the supreme court of Suffolk county at a hearing in Boston on next Tuesday, May the 20th. A writ of mandamus has been served upon Commissioner Barrett in an attempt to have Mr. Green reinstated in the Lowell fire department.

Under ordinary conditions the case would have come up before the highest tribunal in Middlesex county but as there is no session at this time the petition of Mr. Green's attorney, Jackson Palmer, Esq., for a transfer of the case to the supreme court of Suffolk county was granted.

Mr. Green was removed from the Lowell fire department in 1909 by Chief Hosmer. Mr. Green alleges that he was dismissed on account of prejudice. The writ was served on Commissioner Barrett this noon by Deputy Sheriff Stiles. City Solicitor Hennessy will be in charge of the defense.

LOWELL TEXTILE SCHOOL BILL

Resolve in Favor of Current Year's Appropriation Awaits Action
of Gov. Foss

After the stormiest career ever encountered by a Lowell Textile school appropriation bill, the 1913 resolve in favor of the current year's appropriation for this institution, which was fought for and introduced by Rep. Victor Francis Jewett, has passed the senate to be engrossed and now lies on the table for either the approval or the veto of His Excellency, Gov. Foss.

Spring

Humors yield to the purifying power of

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Creates an appetite, builds up health.

It will be remembered that the governor last year vetoed the Lowell Textile school appropriation bills, so that although the general court has at last assented, the fate of the resolve is as yet not favorably determined, inasmuch as Gov. Foss is known to be somewhat hostile to the present textile education. In fact, he had his commission on efficiency and economy review the entire textile situation, which report, however, was more favorable to the Lowell Textile than to either of the other two textile institutions. The state board of education has also investigated the three textile schools and their report is favorable to the local school.

This is the second year Rep. Jewett has handled the Textile school legislation. Last year the speaker of the house ruled out the veto of Gov. Foss as "improperly before the house." This year the bill has been carefully handled. The committee on education first viewed the premises and held conference with the school trustees. Then the house committee on ways and means held hearings on the financial needs and recommended $20,000 for the period up to June 1, 1913; and $40,000 from June 1, 1913 to June 1, 1914. This was considered by Rep. Jewett as being insufficient to efficiently carry on the school and after considerable arguing he got the resolve re-committed from the floor of the house to house ways and means, where the case was re-opened. After extended argumentation the house ways and means committee conceded the very figures requested by Rep. Jewett, namely, $27,000 to June 1, 1913 and $45,000 to June 1, 1914. The amended bill then successfully proceeded through the calendar of the house, and went over to the senate where it received concurrent action, being passed to be engrossed on Thursday of this present week.

The many friends of the Lowell Textile school will anxiously await the action of Gov. Foss. Meantime, Rep. Jewett says he will fight to put the bill over the governor's veto, if the measure receives adverse action in the executive chamber.

Railroad Bill Passed

By an overwhelming vote the Massachusetts house yesterday afternoon adopted the ways and means amendments to the railroad transportation bill and ordered the measure to a third reading. The vote on the adoption of the ways and means draft of the measure amounted to a vote on the bill itself.

On adopting this draft the vote stood 217 to 13. Before taking this action the house had bowled over every amendment but one, including those offered by Washburn of Worcester, and in a majority of cases even refused a roll-call. The only amendment adopted was that offered by Coggan of Malden to give the enlarged railroad commission, provided for by the bill, supervision will take for his subject, "God." Sunday school will be called at 10.15.

The Ladies of the G. A. R. will present a silk flag to every Sunday school in the town before Memorial day and tomorrow three flags will be presented. The flag to St. Anne's mission will be presented by Mrs. Sarah L. Murphy; to St. Andrew's church by Miss Marie Healy and to the Congregational church by Mrs. Franklin Jaquith. On Memorial Sunday a flag will be presented to the Unitarian Sunday school by Mrs. Fred Smith; to the North Berwick Baptist by Mrs. Hannah White-side and to the Billerica Baptist by Mrs. Hallie Whitney.

FOREIGN MERCHANTS

Complain About Short Postage on Letters From the United States of America

The department of commerce at Washington is receiving complaints in increasing numbers from business men in foreign countries against the short postage on letters received from the United States. These foreign merchants aver that the double postage which they are required to pay on letters from America is so annoying that it turns much trade away from our country.

Commercial Agent Thompson writes to the department from Marseille that the large French importers report that about half the American correspondence comes with only a two-cent stamp affixed. Thus an unfavorable impression is created. The rate on letters to France is five cents for the first ounce or fraction of an ounce and three cents for each additional ounce or fraction thereof.

A mercantile firm at Buenos Aires, in calling attention to the receipt of so many letters from the United States with two cent stamps only thereon, for which they must pay a fine, suggests to the American consul there: "We suppose that this is due to a wrong interpretation of the postal rates very general among the commercial circles of your country. In view of the enormous increase in commercial exchange with the country you represent, we recommend that you take the necessary measures to correct this deficiency, which will not develop commerce with Argentina." Similar complaints have reached the department from Africa, Australia, and many other parts of the world, and the statement is usually added that short-paid letters from the United States are beginning to be refused.

It has been suggested that the simple device of using a special colored envelope for foreign letters would prevent the oversight of short postage. Many firms have already adopted this method with success.

FOR COUNTY COMMISSIONER

Robert F. Marden Took Oath of Office Today and Will Enter at Once Upon Duties of Office

Robert F. Marden, as was stated in The Sun yesterday, has decided to accept the position of county commissioner. He qualified for the job at Cambridge today and will enter at once upon the duties of the office. In urging Mr. Marden to accept, Chairman Levi S. Gould, of the commission, spoke of the number of excellent candidates for the position whose claims had been earnestly advocated by many prominent men in Lowell, which fact led the commissioners and clerk of courts to seek their man from among those who had not entered the contest at all.

over all steamship companies operating here, whether they run "throughout the year" or not. This, of course, would bring under the board such a company as the Nantasket Steamship company.

The debate was the best of the year. There were no "personalities" and the speaker was seldom called upon to use the gavel. The entire situation was in striking contrast with the debate of a week ago on the Avery street widening. Apart from the Coggan amendment, none of the proposed changes received any substantial support.

Withdrawn by Senate

The senate yesterday withdrew its amendment to the bill to extend the civil service laws to the collecting and treasury departments of Boston, which the house refused, and the bill was enacted. The amendment sought to make the act effective Feb. 1, 1911.

The amendment which restores the old section of the bill which permits the attorney general to expend not exceeding $5000 to the recalled enacted bill to enlarge the powers of the attorney general by providing that sums of money which the attorney general may expend shall be paid out of the contingent fund of the governor, was adopted and the bill sent to the house.

The bill for the consolidation of the laws relating to the manufacture and sale of gas and electricity was tabled. The order adopted by the house, that the railroad commissioner investigate what steps, if any, should be taken for the better protection from fire of Mystic wharf was again rejected.

Adverse reports by the committee on railroads were accepted on the petition of Atty. Gen. James M. Swift for legislation to compel the repayment of fare paid by the holder of a season ticket when he didn't happen to have his ticket with him, and on the petition of Grenville S. McFarland for legislation to terminate the control of the Boston & Maine by the New Haven.

The last number consisted of a competitive prize drill between Garde Frontenac of this city and Rochambeau of Nashua.

POLICE COURT CASES

Man Was Fined $4 for Threatening Wife

Rosie Keraglan had her husband, Sabag, arrested last night and he appeared in police court this morning in answer to a complaint charging him with threatening to do his wife physical harm. He pleaded not guilty.

It was claimed by the wife that he had first threatened her and she produced a revolver which she testified the defendant had left at her house when he called there to see his child. (The weapon was a .32 calibre article of warfare of a cheap make.)

Miss Elizabeth Kelley, 12 years of age, testified that she saw the revolver in the defendant's pocket and that she was certain he had left it as there was no weapon on the lounge where the revolver was found before he arrived on the scene. After a lengthy argument by counsel the court found the defendant guilty and ordered him to pay the small fine of $4.

George A. DeLord was charged with keeping an unlicensed dog and his explanation was forthcoming in court this morning. It was agreed that the dog was not properly licensed and the case was placed on file when the defendant acknowledged himself willing to see that the requirements of the law were met with and the costs of the court paid by the defense.

Bernard Concannon was sent to jail for one month on the charge of drunkenness. Frank Jondick, charged with the larceny of a board, was ordered to pay a fine of $2 by Judge Pickman. Bartholomew J. Sheehan was fined $5 for his plea to the charge of drunkenness. There were four $2 drunks and three releases.

DIED OF BROKEN HEART

Boy Unable to Pitch Important Game

ST. PAUL, Minn., May 17.—Had I pitched my school would have won the pennant, but it's too late now; we've lost.

Willie Lessor, 14, champion pitcher of the St. Paul grade school, sobbed the words, buried his face in bedclothing and died of a broken heart.

Willie attended class at Baker school Wednesday. That afternoon he won his third consecutive victory, pitching a two-hit, no-run game. Thursday's battle was to decide his school's pennant chances. He worried, causing a headache, and was detained at home. The new pitcher lost the game.

When the principal and comrades called on Willie yesterday he still was confined to his bed with a headache. "What's the score?" he cried.

"They told him and a moment later he was dead. Physicians say death was due to a broken heart. Playmates placed Willie's baseball suit over his body."

FOR THE LOCAL AUTOIST

Many Will Spend Summer Touring Country

There is no better evidence of the great increase in the number of automobiles in this city during the past year than to see the various trucks, large and small which are being employed by the up-to-date firms in delivering goods, etc. Some wonderfully large trucks have been seen on the streets of Lowell, and a great deal of produce and manufactured articles are transported between Boston and Lowell by means of these huge machines. Recently a load of three or four pianos, together with several articles of furniture was brought into the city in this manner.

It is now the time when people begin to think about their summer vacations. One can hardly imagine a more enjoyable method of spending a vacation than in a motor car tour and many Lowell people will make extended auto trips during this summer. The enjoyment which a machine furnishes is almost unlimited, as is the distance which can be covered in a short time.

Much interest is being at present centered about automobile racing and in particular the international sweepstakes which are to be contested at the Indianapolis motor speedway are commanding much attention of racing fans. This big event will take place on Memorial day and the distance is 500 miles.

The Ervin E. Smith Company is having great success with the International truck. It has delivered two of the past week, one to Mr. A. F. Gates of Westford and one to Mr. G. E. Hitchcock of Dracut. The 1913 truck has a great many improvements which add to the wearing quality and durability.

WANT NEW STABLE

At Chelmsford Street, Hospital to Replace Building Destroyed by Fire Last Year

The matter of building a new stable at the Chelmsford street hospital to replace that destroyed by a conflagration last year is being considered by the city, and it is not at all improbable that early action will result. At present, and especially with the approach of hayting time and harvesting, the superintendent is in a quandary as to how to find suitable storage for the hay, grain, and other produce and in the past it has been found necessary to press into service a couple of wagon sheds, leaving the wagons without any shelter other than the open air. The accommodations for the horses and other live stock are also said to be insufficient for the needs of the farm.

The proposed new stable would be of quite large dimensions and would be built to accommodate about 12 horses and 20 cattle, besides containing three lots for hay. This would be a valuable addition to the institution and would facilitate the working of the farm, for it is said that the need of a new stable is being felt at present more than ever before. As yet, no definite action has been taken in regard to the building of the structure but it is reasonable to suppose that something will be done in this regard at an early date.

WARNING OF FREE SUGAR PLANS

Sen. James Praised Wilson's Stand —Reply to Declaration by Sen. Ransdell

WASHINGTON, May 16.—Senator James, credited with speaking for President Wilson and the administration, interpreted the Baltimore platform in a speech in the senate today as committing the president and the democratic party to free sugar. His remarks were in reply to the declaration by Senator Ransdell and Senator-elect Broussard of Louisiana that it did not, in the gallery listening closely, was Joseph P. Tumulty, secretary to the president, who went to the capital to hear the reply to the anti-free sugar democrats, who for two days have been assailing the sugar schedule which President Wilson has declared will not be compromised if he can help it.

Senator James said that the platform adopted at the Baltimore convention approved the course of the democratic house in the last session of congress and that it included approval of the Underwood free sugar bill. He read a paragraph from the democratic campaign text book approving the "excellent record of the house" in placing sugar on the free list.

Senator Ransdell asked if President Wilson did not declare in a speech at Pittsburgh that he did not stand for free trade. Senator James returned that the president was not a free trader and that the proposed bill calculated to raise $300,000,000 in revenue was not a free trade bill.

"If you say President Wilson is a free trader because he favors free sugar," demanded Senator James, "did you call yourself a free trader when you voted for free bread and free shoes?"

Senator Ransdell denied he was a free trader and asked if the democratic national committee had not instructed its orators in the west not to discuss free sugar and also if the party would not have defeated it if they had discussed it there.

Senator James eloquently praised President Wilson's stand for free sugar.

"If William H. Taft had had half the courage of Woodrow Wilson he would have vetoed the Payne-Aldrich bill and hundreds would have been burned on every hillside in his honor and, in my opinion, he would have been re-elected."

"President Wilson says he is in favor of free sugar and free wool and wants no compromise. At Pittsburgh he merely said he did not want to destroy any legitimate industry. I challenge you to find anybody to whom Woodrow Wilson ever said he was not in favor of free sugar."

Senator Ransdell inquired if he considered the sugar business of the south and west legitimate.

"Legally not; but economically," replied Senator James.

LABOR AND INDUSTRIES BOARD

Act Creating it Will Take Effect June 1—Will Assist Board of Health and Police

An act to establish a state board of labor and industries was approved July 10, 1912, and the act takes effect on the first day of next month. The board will consist of five members to be appointed by the governor and so far as is known the governor has not yet made the appointments. The board will be a sort of factory commission and will relieve the state board of health and the state police of considerable work along that line. It is understood, however, that the state board of health will be given more direct health work, and will still continue to look after such institutions as the house of correction, jails, etc.

Dr. Charles E. Simpson is the state inspector of health in these parts and he has lately had added to his territory, the city of Lawrence and the towns of Methuen, Andover and North Andover. His territory now includes three cities, Lowell, Lawrence and Woburn, and about 30 towns. It takes the inspector quite a while to cover his whole district, but in case of contagious diseases he gets a daily report from the cities and towns in his district.

Section 4 of the act creating the state board of labor and industries, reads as follows:

"The board may investigate the conditions existing in any line of industry carried on by inhabitants of the commonwealth, and such investigation may be extended outside of the commonwealth to procure information for the promotion of industrial development or improvement of industrial conditions. The board shall receive all complaints concerning conditions existing in any industry carried on by inhabitants of the commonwealth, or concerning alleged violations of any laws enforced under its direction, and shall thereupon make or direct all needful and appropriate investigations and prosecutions. It may employ experts or other necessary assistants to aid in the performance of any duty imposed upon it by law. It may make rules not inconsistent with existing law for carrying out the provisions of this act."

As showing the board's relation to the state board of health the following is stated in section six: "The said board shall promptly report to the state board of health all cases of disease in industrial establishments which may effect the health of the community."

Buildings used for industrial purposes under the meaning of the act include factories, workshops, bakeries, mechanical establishments, laundries, tenement house workrooms, and all other buildings or parts of buildings in which manufacturing is carried on. It is stated, however, that nothing in the act shall be construed to prevent the state inspectors of health from entering buildings used for industrial purposes when required by their duty to protect the health of the community.

Section 7 gives to the board the authority to appoint not more than two deputy commissioners of labor, who shall be under the direction of and responsible to the commissioner. One of the said deputies shall be especially qualified to supervise the enforcement of laws under the jurisdiction of the board which relate to the health of persons employed in buildings used for industrial purposes and shall be charged with that duty.

The salary of the chairman of the board shall be $1500 a year, and the salaries of each of the other members of the board shall be $1000 a year. The salary of the commissioner of labor shall be determined by the board, and shall not be less than $5000 nor more than $7500 a year. The term of office of members of the board shall be five years, except that when first appointed one of the members shall be appointed for four years, one for three years, one for two years, and one for one year, the member at that time to be appointed for five years to be chairman. One member of the board shall be an employer of labor, one a wage earner, one a physician or a sanitary engineer, and at least one a woman.

Telephone Alarm Fire

The fire department was called out yesterday afternoon in answer to a telephone alarm from the house at the corner of Chestnut and Willow streets. The blaze was only a small one, the fire having originated in the front hall where, it is thought, a carelessly thrown match which still retained lighting qualities, set an umbrella on fire. Two umbrellas were all that the fire damaged before the firemen arrived on the scene and quickly applied the chemicals, extinguishing the blaze immediately. The house is owned by one George Casey.

TRANSPORTATION BILL STATE NORMAL SCHOOL

Passed House After 3 Notable Musical Event Days Debate Held Yesterday

BOSTON, May 16.—A transportation bill creating a public service commission with powers to fix rates and determine facilities was passed in the house today after a three days' debate. The measure was originally offered by Rep. Washburn of Worcester and is known as the Washburn bill. It provides for a commission of five members, including the railroad commissioners with mandatory powers over railroads, street railroads, steamship and steamboat companies in the state.

The commission may approve the issuance of bonds by railroad companies to twice the amount of the stock on such companies but the bonds of a railroad company whose franchise is issued in another state and which enters Massachusetts cannot be legal savings banks investments in this state unless the issue is approved by the new commission.

The bill will go to the senate next week.

Yesterday the Glee club of the State Normal school gave a very pleasing and admirably executed concert before a large and appreciative audience in the assembly hall of the school. The distinguished and accomplished soprano, Madame Wilhelmina Wright, Calvert of Boston was the soloist and delighted her hearers. The chorus work of the Glee club was most commendable, showing the result of earnest preparation, and no little credit is due Mr. Albert Edmund Brown, the director, under whose supervision the concert was prepared, rehearsed, and given. The parts were remarkably clear and bore the pleasing quality of pleasing distinctness and blending of tones, there being none of the blurring or rough intermingling of the voices, characteristic of many choruses. The accompanists were Miss Pauline A. Meyer and Mrs. Albert E. Brown. The program was comprised of the following selected numbers:

"Spinning Chorus" ("The Flying Dutchman").....Wagner
"A May Morning".....Danz

CINCINNATI, O., May 16.—Street car service in this city was somewhat more extended today when the Cincinnati Traction Co. began operations of three additional lines. One line was running yesterday, thus making a total of four out of the 25 regular lines that were in operation at noon today. Thirty-seven cars are being operated over the four routes. Rioting took place after noon when a Vine and Clifton line car was attacked by strike sympathizers at Fifth and Walnut streets and for 15 minutes rocks, bricks and other missiles were hurled through the car. Ten arrests were made.

A STORY IN PICTURES

Interesting Exhibit Coming to Lowell

An exhibit comprising photographs of conditions existing in manufacturing establishments and other places of employment will be brought to Lowell the first of June. The photographs are the property of the state board of health and the Boston board of health. The photographs are now on exhibition in Lawrence and it was Dr. Charles E. Simpson, the state inspector of health, who first suggested that the exhibit be brought to Lowell. Dr. Simpson says that the photographs show the sanitary and unsanitary, the good and bad conditions existing in the various establishments and he says the pictures tell a very plain story. The local board of health is interested in having the exhibit brought to Lowell and Dr. Carroll has talked with Agent Richardson of the state board of health relative to it. Mr. Richardson said he thought it very probable that the photographs could be shown in this city after Lawrence had finished with them and that will be June 1. The exhibit will be placed in the public library and the only expense attached will be that of transportation and the "set up." The expense is estimated at about $150.

One reason is that in addition to the marvelous health giving climate, and the joy of living that one feels in Colorado, the people there have been wise in establishing thoroughly good and comfortable hotels, boarding-houses and ranch houses, where visitors can live on the fat of the land and even in luxury if that is demanded.

We have books and maps and pamphlets describing Colorado and telling in detail about these living places, the prices charged. JUSTIFIES TARIFF REFORM

The third instalment of the report of the bureau of corporations on its investigation of the steel industry, dealing particularly with the cost of production, has just been submitted to the president by acting Corporation Commissioner Walker, and the conditions as shown concerning the inner workings of the steel trust go far in justifying the proposed tariff laws as they will affect this industry. A great part of the report is given over to a discussion of the vast differences between "book costs" and "net costs," and figures are given to prove that iron and steel manufacturing companies usually include in their statements of cost of production large profits paid to subsidiary ore and transportation concerns.

This report, besides emphasizing the wisdom of the steel and iron clauses of the tariff bill, gives the people of the country a great deal of information on tariff and trust questions. What it shows of the cleverness with which the steel trust conceals its profits by a network of dealings with subsidiaries, may be taken as a typical example of the way in which such companies and trusts seek to evade the spirit of laws, in their efforts to avoid government interference.

That the steel trust does not believe in stagnated business methods was strikingly shown by the testimony of President Farrell before the commission, particularly in the way in which it has worked up its foreign trade. The fact that it has won such a world wide victory against the competition of Europe and over all tariff obstructions and other difficulties, is a striking and decisive proof that it can well exist in the home market without tariff help or protection. If, according to the testimony of Mr. Farrell, the steel trust now sells rails sometimes abroad cheaper than at home, it furnished additional proof that the time has come for free trade in that industry. The president does not dispute the fact of the former discrimination of 25 per cent. against the home market.

As to whether the profits of the steel trust are abnormal, the figures of Mr. Walker's report are illuminating. In it he shows that steel rails costing $16.57 a ton are sold at an average price of $10.75 per ton—more than 60 per cent. Even if a tariff legislation cut this profit down a little, the steel trust could very well subsist.

One matter, however, which must be considered in estimating steel profits is the great cost of railroad transportation. In speaking of pig iron before the commission, President Farrell asserted that it could be delivered in San Francisco at a cost price for production and freight of $11.50 per ton. Commissioner Walker shows the cost to the steel trust to be $11.21 per ton. But with the addition of the freight rate from Pennsylvania to San Francisco, President Farrell says that the cost would be $21.50 a ton.

The tariff question, therefore, as it affects the steel trust at least, is largely a matter of "protection" for the railroads. But such tariff laws as formerly were in force for this "protection" were abused until they were a hindrance to industry instead of an aid, and there is nothing in the revelations of the government steel trust investigation to justify their continuance.

HOMES AND SCHOOLS

Addressing a national congress of mothers at the Copley Plaza in Boston at its initial meeting on Thursday evening, Dr. Franklin P. Dyer, superintendent of the Boston public schools, commended the modern tendency to relegate the duties of the home more and more to the school. "The old time home can never be again," he said. "It must adjust itself to the conditions of modern life."

Without in any way reflecting on the recognized ability of Dr. Dyer as an educator, the above statement seems to be one of these exaggerated generalities which are so openly advocated at modern conventions and congresses. Some prominent man or woman gets up and makes an announcement and behold! the matter is settled for all time. It sounds quite plausible to advise that the duties of the home should be left to the school, but people of sound judgment and experience still hold that while the duties of the home and school go in parallel lines, they are distinctive and different and are not to be confused. Undoubtedly the tendency has been to make the schools like homes as far as possible, but educationists as eminent as Dr. Dyer are beginning to see that it is in danger of being overdone.

When we practically do away with all corporal punishment in the schools, and give a great deal of time studying the development of pollywogs into frogs and seeds into sickly plants, we are called progressive by modern faddists; but when our educators go further and substitute this training for the stern discipline of the old fashioned home, it is no wonder that we have school strikes. We are going so far in our progressiveness that the wise progress of the future will be looking partly backward to the discarded methods of our fathers. It would be well if we studied Tennyson's delicate distinction between knowledge and wisdom, education and instruction. It would be well, too, for Dr. Dyer and other educators even less distinguished to inculcate greater respect for authority in the school rather than introduce new theories that can serve only to waste the time of pupils and teachers.

MUNICIPAL COUNCIL VAUDEVILLE

It is unfortunately too true that under our old charter the people had come to regard city hall as a sort of municipal theatre where the mayor, councilmen, and aldermen performed periodical turns for the amusement of the general public. Too often we heard a wish expressed for a man who "would do something," and a public servant who went about his duties faithfully without furnishing his "thrills" was regarded as a failure. The public was bored; trade, commerce, and the general life of the city was prosaic, and so when a board was turned out of office or a wild threat made officially to set Fort Hill on the North common, or something quite as feasible, a joyous public grinned and the fine old show went on.

Now we've got a new charter, and the people have begun to think that the affairs of this great and complex city with its various important departments can give the municipal council quite enough to do without furnishing the old time vaudeville features. But at least one member of the council cannot forget the old times, and the methods that brought popular favor in the palmy days when municipal stunts were expected daily. Contrary to all the demands of common sense and logic, he still furnishes the "thrills," sometimes doing the lionheart act of getting out of a tight place, sometimes doing old time conjuring tricks, but generally indulging in burlesque revelations. The show is humorous enough, but alas! for the showman, the people seem to have tired of it, and they are asking him for less pyrotechnical display and closer application to the duties of his office.

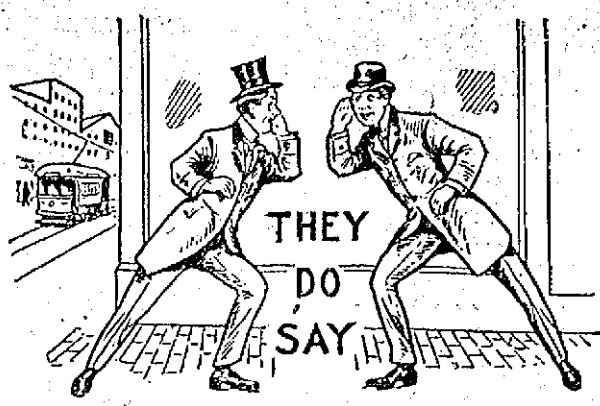

The municipal council is a board of directors handling the very important business of the large corporation of the city of Lowell for the benefit of its people. Like all good boards of directors their duty is to handle it to the best of their ability, with due regard to economy and efficiency. There may be still a small element who regard city affairs as merely a play of politics, but without doubt the greater number look upon it as a serious matter and expect a close application to duty rather than a continual performance of political vaudeville.

PRES. WILSON'S PRUDENCE

The official actions of President Wilson throughout the whole of the California-Japan controversy have been characterized by the same rare prudence which was shown by President Taft at a time when war with Mexico seemed imminent. President Wilson has counselled moderation and foresight and, though in no way illing the final action of the western state, he has shown that the sentiment of the American people is against anything which would violate existing treaties or imperil the peace and good feeling that now exist between the two nations.

One of the latest actions of the president shows a continuation of this policy of prudence. Because of a report, given wide circulation that was current in official circles to the effect that the United States was contemplating precautionary movements by the army and navy, the president has determined that no warships or troops shall be moved and no military maneuvers undertaken until the question has been settled in a way that shall satisfy the feelings of both opposing parties. At this time of strained relations any special move by the war department would be liable to inflame the Japanese public, already antagonistic to us, and no good would be accomplished by so doing.

Any talk of war at the present time is ridiculous. Whatever the final effect of the president's message to California, and the Californian bill against the Japanese will be, the resources of diplomacy have scarcely yet been put in motion, and the matter is capable of satisfactory adjustment without recourse to arms—the jingoes to the con-

Opium Traffic.

Newport News: The moral sentiment of England has been growing more and more hostile to this traffic and the Chinese government has been showing increased energy in suppressing the domestic industry.

In several instances soldiers have been sent to destroy fields of growing poppies. Between the insistence of the Chinese government and the resentment of the English people at a continuance of a traffic which sacrifices the moral interests of China to the financial interests of India the British government has decided to suspend the traffic for the rest of this year, and presumably the suspension will be permanent.

Burlington Free Press: It is always safe to say that the woman who has most to say about schools has the fewest children, and that the man who takes the longest about taxes has the shortest grand list.

Bright Streets

Lynn News: Well-lighted streets are an asset to any city. The New England communities are just waking up to this fact. From New York, ablaze with light from one end to the other, in the most talked of conflagration in this country, in Cleveland, a few years ago, brilliant illumination was established on one side of Euclid avenue. Business on that side of the street boomed and real estate values increased, while on the other side, where the ordinary lighting effects had been left, business fell off and the stores were almost deserted. In Lowell, the street was transformed from a dark and almost deserted thoroughfare into a place of trary. It is too bad that the world has discarded the war methods of feudal days when a battle was sometimes decided by a fight to the death between a representative of the opposing factions. Were the old customs in vogue now we might get rid of a few of the men, who are spilling for a fight.

How This Woman Found Health

Would not give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for All Rest of Medicine in the World.

Utica, Ohio.—"I suffered everything from a female weakness after baby came. I had numb spells and was dizzy, had black spots before my eyes, my back ached and I was so weak I could hardly stand up. My face was yellow, even my fingernails were colorless and I had displacement. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and now I am stout, well and healthy. I can do all my own work and can walk to town and back and not get tired. I would not give your Vegetable Compound for all the rest of the medicines in the world. I tried doctor's medicines and they did me no good."—Mrs. MARY EARLEWINE, R.F.D. No. 3, Utica, Ohio.

Another Case.

Nebo, Ill.—"I was bothered for ten years with female troubles and the doctors did not help me. I was so weak and nervous that I could not do my work and every month I had to spend a few days in bed. I read so many letters about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound curing female troubles that I got a bottle of it. It did me more good than anything else I ever took and now I am cured. I feel better than I have for years and tell everybody what the Compound has done for me. I believe I would not be living to-day but for that."—Mrs. HETTIE GREENSTREET, Nebo, Illinois.

The Lawrence fans think that they have already got the pennant within their grasp and are now wondering when the down river team will be headed. Manager Pieper assured them that this year's pennant is a cinch and the worst of it is they believe him down there. There are many games to be played before the conclusion of the season, Mr. Pieper!

The sporting writers all around the New England league circuit are up in arms over the recent tough decisions which have been handed out in some of the games. Umpire O'Brien seems to be the man most censured. How about "Red" Rorty? He proved one of the best decision makers that this league has had for years. If Rorty could be procured his appointment would meet with general approval in all the league cities.

Things will be pretty soft for Secretary Call of the Lowell baseball club if all the players this year who are not needed any longer by Manager Gray release themselves. Smoyer and Weaver did not wait to hear the final word but preferred to travel along without receiving their blue envelope. The hardest job that the secretary of any club has is the issuing of releases and the Lowell club's scribe should always keep a warm spot in his heart for the two ball players who insisted on releasing themselves.

The Red Sox and the St. Louis Americans played a game yesterday the total of which were never duplicated in baseball history so far as big league statisticians can find. The score was 3 to 2 but in every other respect the totals were the same for both teams. If the game had resulted in a tie the record would doubtless have stood for many years.

The Knights of Columbus have a nucleus for a strong team in Charlie McKenzio, Jim Reilly, Billy King and Harry Drury. In past years this society has placed a very fast aggregation of amateurs in the field and were expecting to hear any day of the formation of a team for this season.

This Terry Brooks is some fighter when it comes a question of outgunning the other fellow. He has a kick in each hand which he can handle from any angle and is only too willing to swap them with an opponent. If Ritchie had ever received one of several sweet wallops which the New Yorkers tried to put over last night no decision would have been needed.

A peculiar condition of affairs has arisen over the schoolboy status of Irving T. Howe, the colored flyer of the Boston English high school. The age limit at which a Boston high school boy may compete has been fixed at 19 years by the committee on high school athletics. Howe reached this age two weeks ago and so under this rule cannot compete for his school again. In the Harvard interscholastic the age limit is twenty-one years. Therefore Howe is eligible to run in the games but the school ruling says he cannot compete under her colors. The only way out of the difficulty will be for Howe to run unattached, something that has never been done in these games before.

TWELVE ROUNDS TO DRAW

Brooks and Ritchie at
Acme A. C.

In a twelve round fight in which elbow fighting and wicked kidney punching played a large part, Joe Ritchie of Boston and Terry Brooks of Brooklyn fought a draw before the members of the Acme club at last night's meeting. The manager of Brooks refused to let his man fight unless the club agreed to his demands. He accused Ritchie of being over weight and stipulated that if each man was on his feet at the end of the last round the decision should be a draw. The club granted the request in spite of the spirited clamoring of the spectators for a decision.

Brooks was the aggressor from the start. He curled a punch in each hand and his elbows as well. Ritchie did not lay a glove on him until the fourth round and the only occasion in which the Boston fighter had a clear advantage was in the sixth. In this round the referee warned Brooks repeatedly about hitting low and using his elbows. Brooks caught Ritchie in this round with his left elbow and nearly closed the latter's eye. The crowd continually yelled for the referee to make Brooks quit his elbow fighting but he was not stopped until Referee Jack Mackenzie warned him twice in the sixth.

Ritchie got to Brooks' features in the latter part of the fight with his left hand jab and kept drawing the crimson fluid from his nose in each round. This did not deter the other for a minute, however, and he forced the fight throughout. It would have been a decision for Brooks if a referee's decision had been decided upon.

Finney Boyle defeated Tony Lorenzo of Boston in a semi-final of eight rounds. It was the Lowell boy's fight all along. Boyle tried hard to put his opponent down for the count and had him staggering all over the ring and hanging on in several of the rounds. Billy Brooks gave Young Duffrey a few lusty wallops in the first round of their fight and the latter laid down and took the count. Jack Mackenzie proved a big success as a referee.

ARTHUR LAVIGNE SIGNS CONTRACT

Popular Catcher Returns
to the Lowell
Team

Arthur Lavigne, last year's regular backstop and one of the most popular ball players that the Lowell club ever had on its roster, has been signed up finally by Manager Gray and it is expected that the addition of this player to the team will immediately be apparent in its defensive powers. Lavigne's arm was well known and appreciated around the circuit, his sure tossing to the bases holding down the fastest base stealers in the league.

The fans like to see Lavigne face a pitcher in a pinch when a hit is needed badly by the home team. Although his batting figures have never been phenomenal he is one of the surest men in the game when a hit means runs to his club. This player knows the home ground up and is a great help to the pitchers in the home camp. The news that he has been signed up to play in Lowell this year will certainly bring joy to the hearts of all the local baseball fans.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

Keith's Theatre

The regular season at the E. F. Keith theatre ends tomorrow night, with the presentation of a Sunday entertainment. For this final performance five musical acts and six motion picture reels will be presented, and this, like all of the other Sunday shows, will literally be the maximum of entertainment for the minimum of expense. This afternoon and evening the musical comedy in two acts, "It Happened in New York," will be played by a large company, of which George E. and John Gorman are at the head. Joe Elmo, master of the accordion, runs through a long repertoire of classical and popular selections. Los Valadons, slack wire acrobats, do some daring work, and Miss Reilly Murri, "The Aviator Girl," flies out over the heads of her audience. Ben Harney & Co. called the originators of rotting are also on the bill. Good seats may be obtained for the remaining performances, Phone 23.

Merrimack Square Theatre

"Wildfire," the presentation by Grace Young & Co. next week at the Merrimack Square Theatre, is a play that has proved one of the most popular comedies in years. It is Miss Young, Mrs. Sydney, Mr. Grady, Miss Winchester and other members of the cast are excellent. The play is a comedy of the high priced drama will remember the presentation of this piece in Lowell with the renowned Lilian Russell playing the same role in which Miss Young will appear. The latter, like Miss Russell, is favorably recognized for her wonderfully handsome stage wardrobe and in this particular presentation will find unusual chance to display some of the very latest creations both in gowns and hats. There is comedy to it—good, clever, sparkling humor that should be handed to the entire satisfaction of those who intend to visit the theatre the coming week. As "Matt Donatun," trainer of the Duffy stables, Howard Sydney should make of the character one that will please, while "John Bartlett," a lover of horses, as played by Walter Scott Weeks, should assist materially in giving that necessary touch to make it altogether enjoyable. The piece will be elaborately staged. An unusually strong Sunday program has been arranged, the feature number

Important to Cement Interests

WASHINGTON, May 17.—The Brazilian government has by decree extended until the end of the current year the preferential treatment of American flour, cement and other articles. This decree is regarded as of the utmost importance to American milling and cement interests.

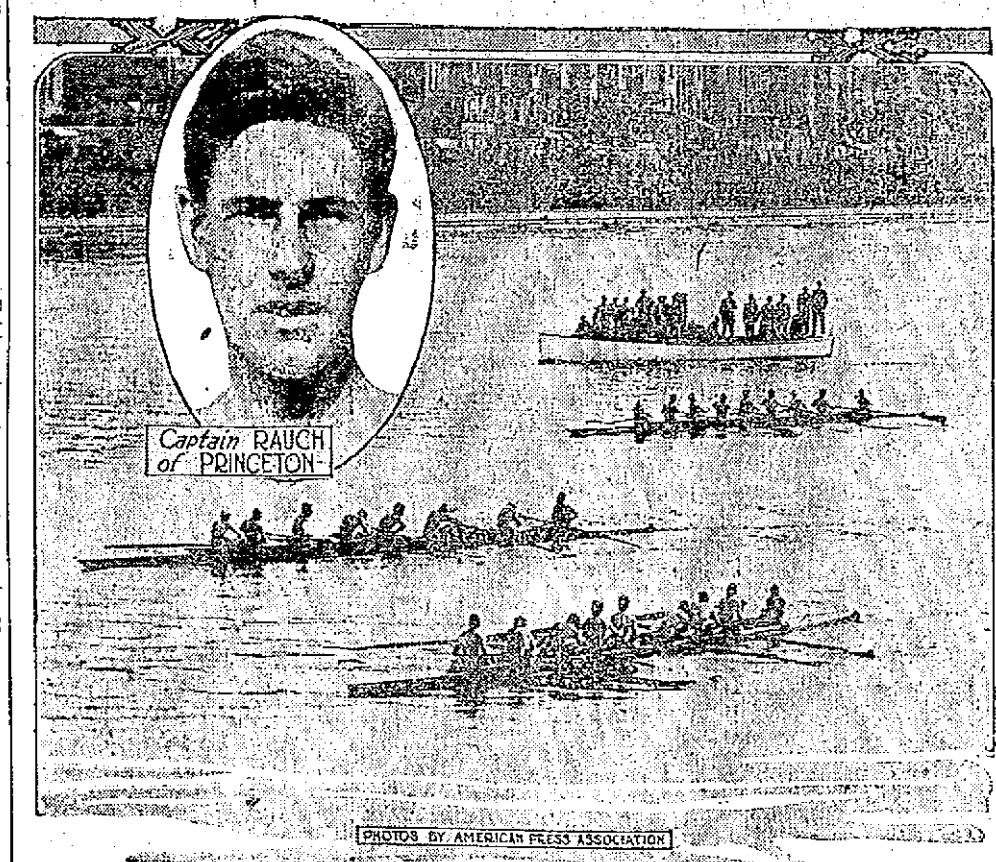

The American flour trade alone with Brazil amounted to about $2,000,000 per annum and the withholding of the differential would have turned this whole market over to the Argentine millers who even now are making a strong bid for it in the face of what virtually is a rebate of 30 per cent. to the American millers.

AMERICAN CRACKS WILL NOT HAVE EASY TIME
DEFEATING AUSTRALIAN TENNIS PLAYERS

NEW YORK, May 17.—The members of the Australian tennis team who recently arrived here to play the Americans in the trial matches for the International Davis cup have mapped out a strenuous schedule for the next two weeks. In fact they will be kept busy until the date of the actual tournament at the West Side Tennis club courts here June 6 and 7. This week they will play in Philadelphia, and on May 24 they will visit Boston. It is planned to have the Australians participate in exhibition matches at Longwood on the afternoons of Monday and Tuesday, May 26 and 27. From Boston the Australians will go to the Piping

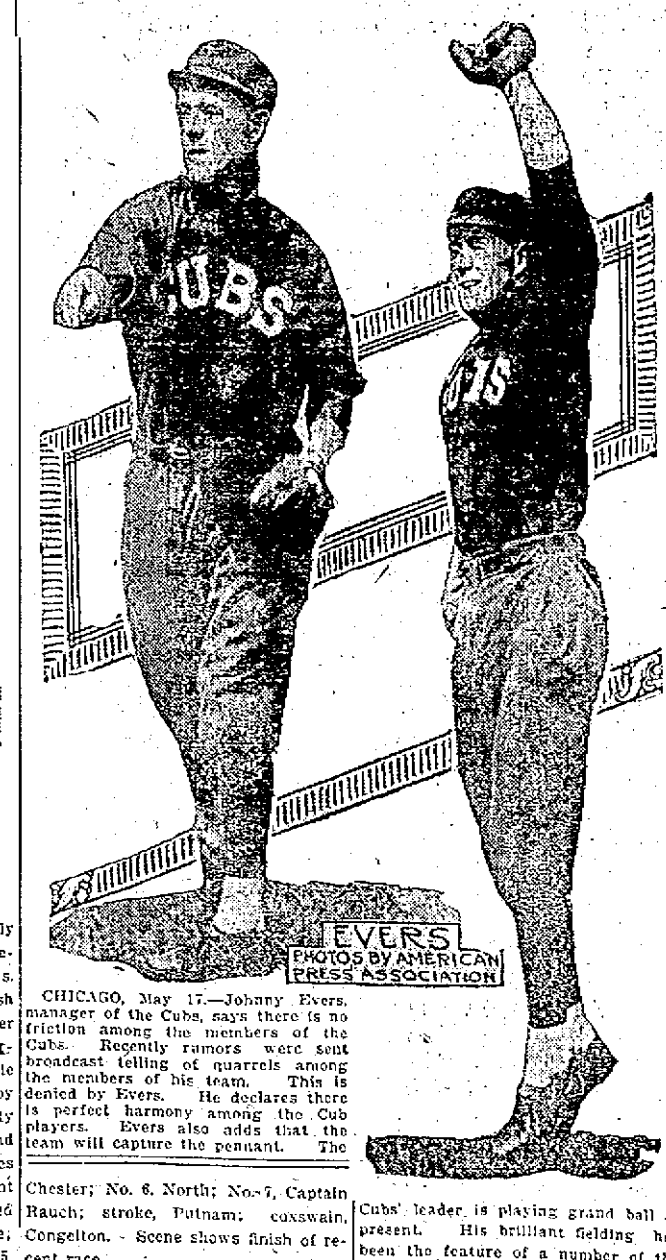

Rock Country club, Locust Valley, N. Y. It is also possible that they will accept the courtesies of the Crescent Athletic club at Bay Ridge. Several of the turf courts at Bay Ridge have been reserved for their practice, and it is expected that they will follow the custom of previous British teams and compete at Bay Ridge. According to advices from Australia A. B. Jones and Horace Rice are the finest players in New South Wales. Jones is particularly strong on volleying, in which he keeps the racket in a horizontal position by the low stoop of his body, to do which he sacrifices some of the pace he needs. He crosses the court swiftly to intercept an attempted pass, and in the past year he has improved in strokes, stamina and tactics. With Wright he won the New South Wales doubles championship in 1903 and the Metropolitan (Sydney) doubles championship in 1905, 1907, 1909 and 1910. He now holds the singles championship of Queensland and New South Wales and the singles, doubles and mixed doubles of the city of Sydney. Horace Rice is the veteran of the team, having played first class tennis for nearly twenty years. Like Jones, he is strong at volleying, during which his attitude is very tense and full of energy, though restrained through the difficulty in handling the stroke. He also passes a perfect backhand stroke, which is most used in Australia. He is fast, despite his age and covers the court well. Stanley N. Doust, the captain of the team, is expected to play singles. He has been a resident of England for the past eight years, his most recent performance being a victory with A. F. Wilding in defending the covered courts championship of England from Roper Barrett and Arthur W. Gore. E. W. Hicks is manager of the team and also a player of note.

Princeton's victory over Harvard and Penn was well merited. The Orange and Black proved itself the best crew by overcoming a very disadvantageous start. Before ten strokes, had been

Resolve in Favor of Current Year's Appropriation Awaits Action of Gov. Foss

After the stormiest career ever encountered by a Lowell Textile school appropriation bill, the 1913 resolve in favor of the current year's appropriation for this institution, which was fought for and introduced by Rep. Victor Francis Jewett, has passed the senate to be engrossed and now lies on the table for either the approval or the veto of His Excellency, Gov. Foss.

It will be remembered that the governor last year vetoed the Lowell Textile school appropriation bill, so that although the general court has at last assented, the fate of the resolve is as yet not favorably determined, inasmuch as Gov. Foss is known to be somewhat hostile to the present textile education.

In fact, he had his commission on efficiency and economy review the entire textile situation, which report, however, was more favorable to the Lowell Textile than to either of the other two textile institutions. The state board of education has also investigated the three textile schools and their report is favorable to the local school.

This is the second year Rep. Jewett has handled the Textile school legislation. Last year the speaker of the house ruled out the veto of Gov. Foss as "improperly before the house."

This year the bill has been carefully handled. The committee on education first viewed the premises and held conference with the school trustees. Then the house committee on ways and means held hearings on the financial needs and recommended $25,000 for the period up to June 1, 1913, and $40,000 from June 1, 1913 to June 1, 1914. This was considered by Rep. Jewett as being insufficient to efficiently carry on the school and after considerable arguing he got the resolve re-committed from the floor of the house to house ways and means, where the case was re-opened. After extended argumentation the house ways and means committee conceded the very figures requested by Rep. Jewett, namely, $27,000 to June 1, 1913 and $45,000 to June 1, 1914. The amended bill then successfully proceeded through the calendar of the house, and went over to the senate where it received concurrent action, being passed to be engrossed on Thursday of this present week.

The many friends of the Lowell Textile school will anxiously await the action of Gov. Foss. Meantime, Rep. Jewett says he will fight to put the bill over the governor's veto, if the measure receives adverse action in the executive chamber.

ments to the railroad transportation bill and ordered the measure to a third reading. The vote on the adoption of the ways and means draft of the measure amounted to a vote on the bill itself.

On adopting this draft the vote stood 217 to 12. Before taking this action the house had howled over every amendment but one, including those offered by Washburn of Worcester, and in a majority of cases even refused a roll-call.

The only amendment adopted was that offered by Coggan of Malden to give the enlarged railroad commission, provided for by the bill, supervision

FOREIGN MERCHANTS

Complain About Short Postage on Letters From the United States of America

The department of commerce at Washington is receiving complaints in increasing numbers from business men in foreign countries against the short postage on letters received from the United States. These foreign merchants aver that the double postage which they are required to pay on letters from America is so annoying that it turns much trade away from our country.

Commercial Agent Thompson writes to the department from Marseille that the large French importers report that about half the American correspondence comes with only a two-cent stamp affixed. Thus an unfavorable impression is created. The rate on letters to France is five cents, for the first ounce or fraction of an ounce and three cents for each additional ounce or fraction thereof.

A mercantile firm at Buenos Aires, in calling attention to the receipt of so many letters from the United States with two cent stamps only thereon, for which they must pay a fine, suggests to the American consul there, "We suppose that this is due to a wrong interpretation of the postal rates very general among the commercial circles of your country. In view of the enormous increase in commercial exchange with the country you represent, we recommend that you take the necessary measures to correct this deficiency, which will not develop commerce with Argentina."

Similar complaints have reached the department from Africa, Australia, and many other parts of the world, and the statement is usually added that short-paid letters from the United States are beginning to be refused.

It has been suggested that the simple device of using a special colored envelope for foreign letters would prevent the oversight of short postage. Many firms have already adopted this method with success.

FOR COUNTY COMMISSIONER

Robert F. Marden Took Oath of Office Today and Will Enter at Once Upon Duties of Office

Robert F. Marden, as was stated in the Sun yesterday, has decided to accept the position of county commissioner. He qualified for the job at Cambridge today and will enter at once upon the duties of the office. In urging Mr. Marden to accept, Chairman Levi S. Gould, of the commission, spoke of the number of excellent candidates for the position whose claims had been earnestly advocated by many prominent men in Lowell, which fact led the commissioners and clerk of courts to seek their man from among those who had not entered the contest at all.

over all steamship companies operating here, whether they run "throughout the year" or not. This, of course, would bring under the board such a company as the Nantasket Steamship company.

The debate was the best of the year. There were no "personalities" and the speaker was seldom called upon to use the gavel. The entire situation was in striking contrast with the debate of a week ago on the Avery street widening. Apart from the Coggan amendment, none of the proposed changes received any substantial support.

Withdrawn by Senate

The senate yesterday withdrew its amendment to the bill to extend the civil service laws to the collecting and treasury departments of Boston, which the house refused, and the bill was enacted. The amendment sought to make the act effective Feb. 1, 1914.

The amendment which restores the old section of the bill which permits the attorney general to expend not exceeding $5000 to the recalled enacted bill to enlarge the powers of the attorney general by providing that sums of money which the attorney general may expend shall be paid out of the contingent fund of the governor, was adopted and the bill sent to the house.

The bill for the consolidation of the laws relating to the manufacture and sale of gas and electricity was tabled. The order adopted by the house that the railroad commissioner investigate what steps, if any, should be taken for the better protection from fire of Mystic wharf was again rejected.

Adverse reports by the committee on railroads were accepted on the petition of Atty. Gen. James M. Swift for legislation to compel the repayment of fare paid by the holder of a season ticket when he didn't happen to have his ticket with him, and on the petition of Grenville S. McFarland for legislation to terminate the control of the Boston & Maine by the New Haven.

Resolution Introduced by Coffey States That He is Opposed to Organized Labor

LONDON, May 17.—The resolution of Walter H. Page, as United States ambassador to Great Britain adopted by the London Trades Council was introduced by W. Coffey, a member of the executive committee of the council, on the strength of a letter written on paper bearing the letterhead of the allied trades council of Greater New York, and signed Charles L. Conway, secretary of the National Brotherhood of Bookbinders.

After describing Walter H. Page, as a member of the firm of Doubleday, Page & Co., the letter says: "This concern is bitterly opposed to organized labor. The only department that forced recognition from the union viewpoint was the bookbinders but they are now on strike, being forced out, as the policy of the firm is to replace men with boys."

called on Willie yesterday he still was confined to his bed with a headache. "What's the score?" he cried. They told him and a moment later he was dead. Physicians say death was due to a broken heart. Playmates placed Willie's baseball suit over the body.

Gillbride's Great Anniversary Sale

The great anniversary sale goes merrily on at the Gillbride Department Store, and it is a great success. The people of this city and vicinity know that when the Gillbride company organizes a special sale it means a great big saving to every purchaser who attends the sale, and they take advantage of the opportunity. For the past three days the clerks in each and every department have been as busy as bees waiting on the throngs of people that have taken advantage of the opportunity. Mr. John J. Burns was well satisfied when he saw the great crowds of people leaving the store with their bundles of merchandise. In fact, the proprietors were happy and so were the customers who got these great anniversary bargains. Don't let this opportunity get by you, but call today.

ST. PAUL, Minn., May 17.—"Had I pitched my school would have won the pennant, but it's too late now; we've lost."

Willie Laessle, 14, champion pitcher of the St. Paul grade school, sobbed the words, buried his face in bedclothing and died of a broken heart.

Willie attended class at Baker school Wednesday. That afternoon he won his third consecutive victory, pitching a two-hit, no-run game. Thursday's battle was to decide his school's pennant chances. He worried, causing a headache, and was detained at home. The new pitcher lost the game.

and especially with the approach of having to do a quantity as to how to find suitable storage for the hay, grain, and other produce and in the past it has been found necessary to press into service a couple of wagon sheds, leaving the wagons without any shelter other than the open air. The accommodations for the hay and other live stock are also said by the authorities at the hospital to be insufficient for the needs of the farm.

The proposed new stable would be of quite large dimensions and would be built to accommodate about 12 horses and 20 cattle, besides containing three lots for hay. This would be a valuable addition to the institution and would facilitate the working of the farm, for it is said that the need of a new stable is being felt at present more than ever before. As yet no definite action has been taken in regard to the building of the structure but it is reasonable to suppose that something will be done in this regard at an early date.

FOR THE LOCAL AUTOIST

Many Will Spend Summer Touring Country

There is no better evidence of the great increase in the number of automobiles in this city during the past year than to see the various trucks, large and small which are being employed by the up-to-date firms in delivering goods, etc. Some wonderfully large trucks have been seen on the streets of Lowell, and a great deal of produce and manufactured articles are transported between Boston and Lowell by means of these huge machines. Recently a load of three or four pianos, together with several articles of furniture was brought into the city in this manner.

It is now the time when people begin to think about their summer vacations. One can hardly imagine a more enjoyable method of spending a vacation than to motor near town and many Lowell people will make extended auto trips during this summer. The enjoyment which a machine furnishes is almost unlimited as is the distance which can be covered in a short time.

Much interest is being at present centered about automobile racing and in particular the international sweepstakes which are to be contested at the Indianapolis motor speedway are commanding much attention of racing fans. This big event will take place on Memorial day and the distance is 500 miles.

The Ervin E. Smith Company is having great success with the International truck. It has delivered two the past week, one to Mr. F. Gaul of Westford and one to Mr. G. H. Richardson of Dracut. The 1913 truck has a great many improvements which add to the wearing quality and durability.

3 MEN TRAPPED IN BLAZING TANK

Boston Men Burned

Explosion While Men

PORTLAND, Me., May 17.—Three Boston men, one a Boston engineer, were killed yesterday afternoon in a fire and explosion which occurred while they were imprisoned in a huge steel water tank, 60 feet in the air, at Peak's Island, where they were making repairs.

The dead are Max Carstensen, construction engineer, of 221 South street, Jamaica Plain; Irving C. Loring of Peak's Island; and Michael Ross of Portland.

Caught in the big tank by a fire starting from an overturned kettle of asphaltum, the three men, terribly burned, managed to reach the roof, and while they were rushing about calling for aid, a hot air explosion completed the work of destruction.

Loring and Ross were buried back into the seething, flame-filled tank by the force of the explosion. Carstensen was thrown in the air and fell back on the tank from which he was taken by rescuers. He died an hour later at the Portland hospital, where he was rushed. One of his arms had been burned off before he had reached the tank's roof.

The men were repairing the emptied water tank which supplies a part of the fresh water for the island when the big kettle in which they were boiling their asphaltum in some manner overturned. It caught fire immediately and in a moment the inside of the main the same. "The only trouble we are having," said Agent B. S. Clark to the writer, "is in securing skilled help, which is very scarce in Lowell in this particular line of work."

MORTON MILLS VERY BUSY

The Morton mills were formerly situated in Passaic, N. J., but last year the officials of the company decided to remove their machinery to this city and a five-story building in the yard of the Hamilton Mfg. Co. was secured. The machinery was quickly installed and in August the plant was opened with about 50 help, 20 of whom were brought here from Passaic to teach the work to Lowell operatives. The agent of the company, Mr. Clark, as well as Superintendent Joseph Tremblay, are elated with the success of the plant, and they are also pleased with the operatives of Lowell, and the latter's work was so satisfactory that all of the Passaic help, with the exception of one man, who attempted to start trouble in the factory, were released and their places were filled with local help.

Business increased gradually and now the pay roll contains nearly two hundred names. The line of work in a silk factory differs considerably from that of the cotton mill, and that is mainly the cause of the scarcity of skilled help in Lowell. Many willing workers were tried on the job, but several failed to make good, and accordingly were discharged, for a weaver who cannot earn from $15 a week up on piece work is not wanted at the Morton mills.

The firm has now twenty-eight looms in operation with about 1700 shuttles for manufacturing silk goods; looms particularly adapted to this line of work are required. On account of the elasticity of the fibre the silk floss is not allowed to run on wood, iron or steel as cotton, but porcelain or glass is used.

The principal products manufactured at this mill are cotton and silk trimmings for dressmakers and cloak and suit manufacturers, as well as some cotton fabric which is used in the manufacture of automobile tires. Taffeta silk bindings and silk bellings are also manufactured in large quantities. The company puts out about 150,000 yards of auto fabric a month, while the monthly average output of cotton belting and trimmings is about 4,000,000 yards monthly. The company's business amounts to about $17,500 a month or $210,000 yearly. About 6,000 yards of silk belting is woven weekly, the average pay of the weavers being about $15 per week.

The company is now making arrangements to install about 50 per cent. more machinery, which means that the production of the plant will be doubled, providing the necessary help can be secured. There are 145,000 square feet of floor space and before long it is believed every foot of it will be occupied for manufacturing purposes.

No Store House Needed

The plant has no store house and none is needed for the simple reason that the goods are shipped immediately after they have gone through the finishing process. According to the superintendent there is not one yard of merchandise kept on the premises more than twenty-four hours after it is manufactured. The products are all shipped to New York and most of it is for retail trade.

The help in the mill consists mostly of men, especially in the weaving department, where only one woman is employed. The Morton mills is the only plant in Lowell using pure organ and tram silk, which before winding is worth $7 per pound. They are now having a little trouble in securing the silk, that is in having it dyed. Formerly this work was done in Pennsylvania, but on account of labor troubles in that part of the country, the thread is shipped to Maryland and Virginia, where it is put through the process of dyeing.

Through the courtesy of the manager of the firm, the writer was escorted through the entire plant by the superintendent and was much pleased with his visit. Every piece of work was explained and the system under which the work is conducted is amazing. For instance a skein of silk is put on the spinning machine in the morning and it can be located in the afternoon or at any part of the day, wherever it may be, for every skein is numbered and a record is kept of every operation it goes through until the piece of fabric it goes into is finished.

Sample Room

The first department visited was what is known as the sample room, where but one man is employed. When he enters his room in the morning he locks the door and is not disturbed until he goes to dinner. He is a high salaried employee and his duty is to work his brain for samples.

The first process of the work is to wind the silk on spools. There are two spoolers, one containing 64 spools and the other 128, and these two machines are in the care of four girls. The skein of silk is placed on one side of the machine and the silk threads are wound on spools on the other side of the spooler. Then there is the silk warper, this being the only one of its kind in the city. This is attended to by a woman and the work is done by hand in the old fashioned way, which is the safest method. Fifteen different warps are made on this rack at the same time.

From there several other little machines were inspected such as the quilling machines and others, and a visit was paid in the weave room. There are twenty looms on cotton work and twenty-six on silk. The cotton looms contain 32 shuttles, while the silk looms have 60. On the silk belting looms there are 40 shuttles and the goods manufactured measure from 1 1/2 in. wide to 2 1/2 in. wide, there being about 300 threads to a piece.

The silk warps differ considerably from cotton warps for every ten yards of the warp is divided by a layer of paper, this being done in order to detect a break quicker and with less trouble. The silk belting when finished is wound on blocks in strips of ten yards and between layers of paper in order to keep it from fading.

Supplies Purchased Here

Everything used in the production of fabrics in this plant with the exception of cotton and silk threads is purchased in Lowell, which means a lot for merchants and manufacturers of this city.

The entire plant was renovated before the machinery was moved into it, and now one would not think that the building was formerly used as a part of a cotton mill. New floors were installed and the walls and ceilings were kalsomined, and now the entire building is as clean as a whistle, that is, free from oil or dust.

Farit Will Help

Mr. Clark when questioned about the proposed tariff, smiled and said: "The sooner the better for us, for all day on raw silk yarn and thread will be taken off, and that will mean a lot

JUSTIFIES TARIFF REFORM

The third instalment of the report of the bureau of corporations on its investigation of the steel industry, dealing particularly with the cost of production, has just been submitted to the president by acting Corporation Commissioner Walker, and the conditions as shown concerning the inner workings of the steel trust go far in justifying the proposed tariff laws as they will affect this industry. A great part of the report is given over to a discussion of the vast differences between "book costs" and "net costs," and figures are given to prove that iron and steel manufacturing companies usually include in their statements of cost of production large profits paid to subsidiary ore and transportation concerns.

This report, besides emphasizing the wisdom of the steel and iron clauses of the tariff bill, gives the people of the country a great deal of information on tariff and trust questions. What it shows of the cleverness with which the steel trust conceals its profits by a network of dealings with subsidiaries, may be taken as a typical example of the way in which such companies and trusts seek to evade the spirit of laws. In their efforts to avoid government interference.

That the steel trust does not believe in stagnated business methods was strikingly shown by the testimony of President Farrell before the commission, particularly in the way in which it has worked up its foreign trade. The fact that it has won such a world wide victory against the competition of Europe and over all tariff obstructions and other difficulties, is a striking and decisive proof that it can well exist in the home market without tariff help or protection. If, according to the testimony of Mr. Farrell, the steel trust now sells rails sometimes abroad cheaper than at home, it furnished additional proof that the time has come for free trade in that industry. The president does not dispute the fact of the former discrimination of 25 per cent. against the home market.

As to whether the profits of the steel trust are abnormal, the figures of Mr. Walker's report are illuminating. In it he shows that steel rails costing $18.57 a ton are sold at an average profit of $10.75 per ton—more than 60 per cent. Even if the tariff legislation cut this profit down a little, the steel trust could very well subsist.

One matter, however, which must be considered in estimating steel profits is, the great cost of railroad transportation. In speaking of pig iron before the commission, President Farrell asserted that it could be delivered in San Francisco at a cost price for production and freight of $11.50 per ton. Commissioner Walker shows the cost to the steel trust to be $11.21 per ton. But with the addition of the freight rate from Pennsylvania to San Francisco, President Farrell says that the cost would be $12.50 a ton.

The tariff question, therefore, as it affects the steel trust at least, is largely a matter of "protection" for the railroads. But such tariff laws as formerly were in force for this "protection" were abused until they were a hindrance to industry instead of an aid, and there is nothing in the revelations of the government steel trust investigation to justify their continuance.

HOMES AND SCHOOLS

Addressing a national congress of mothers at the Copley Plaza in Boston at its initial meeting on Thursday evening, Dr. Franklin P. Dyer, superintendent of the Boston public schools, commended the modern tendency to relegate the duties of the home more and more to the school. "The old time home can never be again," he said. "It must adjust itself to the conditions of modern life."

Without in any way reflecting on the recognized ability of Dr. Dyer as an educator, the above statement seems to be one of these exaggerated generalities which are so openly advocated at modern conventions and congresses. Some prominent man or woman gets up and makes an announcement and behold! the matter is settled for all time. It sounds quite plausible to advise that the duties of the home should be left to the school, but people of sound judgment and experience still hold that while the duties of the home and school run in parallel lines, they are distinctive and different and are not to be confused. Undoubtedly the tendency has been to make the schools like homes as far as possible, but educationists as eminent as Dr. Dyer are beginning to see that it is in danger of being overdone.

When we practically do away with all corporal punishment in the schools, and give a great deal of time studying the development of pollywogs into frogs and seeds into sickly plants, we are called progressive by modern faddists; but when our educators go further and substitute this training for the stern discipline of the old fashioned home, it is no wonder that we have school strikes. We are going so far in our progressiveness that the wise progress of the future will be looking partly backward to the discarded methods of our fathers. It would be well if we studied Tennyson's delicate distinction between knowledge and wisdom, education and instruction. It would be well, too, for Dr. Dyer and other educators even less distinguished to inculcate greater respect for authority in the school rather than introduce new theories that can serve only to waste the time of pupils and teachers.

It is unfortunately too true that under our old charter the people had come to regard city hall as a sort of municipal theatre where the mayor, councilmen, and aldermen performed periodical turns for the amusement of the general public. Too often we heard a wish expressed for a man who "would do something," and a public servant who went about his duties faithfully without furnishing the "thrills" was regarded as a failure. The public was bored; trade, commerce, and the general life of the city was prosaic, and so when a board was turned out of office or a wild threat made officially to set Fort Hill on the North common, or something quite as feasible, a joyous public grinned and the fine old show went on.

Now we've got a new charter, and the people have begun to think that the affairs of this great and complex city with its various important departments can give the municipal council quite enough to do without furnishing the old time vaudeville features. But at least one member of the council cannot forget the old times, and the methods that brought popular favor in the palmy days when municipal stunts were expected daily. Contrary to all the demands of common sense and logic, he still furnishes the "thrills," sometimes doing the Houdini act of getting out of a tight place, sometimes doing old time conjuring tricks, but generally indulging in burlesque revelations. The show is humorous enough, but alas! for the showman, the people seem to have tired of it, and they are asking him for less pyrotechnical display and closer application to the duties of his office.

The municipal council is a board of directors handling the very important business of the large corporation of the city of Lowell for the benefit of its people. Like all good boards of directors their duty is to handle it to the best of their ability, with due regard to economy and efficiency. There may be still a small element who regard city affairs as merely a play of politics, but without doubt the greater number look upon it as a serious matter and expect a close application to duty rather than a continual performance of political vaudeville.

PRES. WILSON'S PRUDENCE

The official actions of President Wilson throughout the whole of the California-Japan controversy have been characterized by the same rare prudence which was shown by President Taft at a time when war with Mexico seemed imminent. President Wilson has counselled moderation and foresight and, though in no way limiting the final action of the western state, he has shown that the sentiment of the American people is against anything which would violate existing treaties or imperil the peace and good feeling that now exist between the two nations.

One of the latest actions of the president shows a continuation of this policy of prudence. Because of a report, given wide circulation, that was current in official circles to the effect that the United States was contemplating precautionary movements by the army and navy, the president has determined that no warships or troops shall be moved and no military maneuvers undertaken until the question has been settled in a way that shall satisfy the feelings of both opposing parties. At this time of strained relations any special move by the war department would be liable to inflame the Japanese public, already antagonistic to us, and no good would be accomplished by so doing.

Any talk of war at the present time is ridiculous. Whatever the final effect of the president's message to California, and the California bill against the Japanese will be, the resources of diplomacy have scarcely yet been put in motion, and the matter is capable of satisfactory adjustment without recourse to arms—the jingoes to the contrary.

Optim Traffic

Newport News: The moral sentiment of England has been growing more and more hostile to this traffic and the Chinese government has been showing increased energy in suppressing the domestic industry. In several instances soldiers have been sent to destroy fields of growing poppies.

Between the insistence of the Chinese government and the resentment of the English people at a continuance of a traffic which sacrifices the moral interests of India the British government has decided to suspend the traffic for the rest of the year, and presumably the suspension will be permanent.

The Jingoes

Lawrence Sun: The Japanese society of New York has done a good work which ought to cause the Jingoes on either side of the Pacific to take account of stock and decide to get out of business. A national sentiment test was conducted, the method being to study the editorial in some 500 newspapers of the country. In all 1300 editorial expressions were examined and the result showed that only 25 papers support California. In her extreme land legislation, and in her attitude toward the Chinese, only 400 papers contained only little direct comment, while in 120 others the expressions were of such a judicial nature that they could not be classified.

Business on that side of the street boomed and real estate values increased, while on the other side, where the ordinary lighting effects had been left, business fell off and the streets were almost deserted. DRACUT MEN WANT ANNEXATION

Down River District is Willing to Come in—Work on the State Highway—Other Matters

Some of the residents of Dracut are beginning to talk annexation to Lowell, and a prominent resident of the town stated to the writer yesterday that as soon as the state road is completed in Merrimack avenue, that portion of Dracut known as Elmerville, Kenwood, Brookside, Mt. Pleasant and Belle Grove, may be annexed to the city of Lowell, or at least an effort will be made to have the city accept that part of the town.

When asked why they were talking of annexation this party said the mode of living in that part of the town is similar to the city, with the exception that the privileges are not so great. He said the tax rate has been such in the town for the past two years that the residents are just disgusted. "The other part of Dracut is getting it all," continued this man, "and we are paying our share of the taxes. In the other part of Dracut the residents are being supplied with water and electricity, while on this side we have to own our own water plant or stick to the old open bucket. It is about time something was done, and I as well as several others believe the best way is to be annexed to Lowell if possible."

"Just think, we cannot even get electric power or light in our community unless we pay exorbitant prices. There is no farming being done in this part of the country, and as long as we are living like the city folks, our district ought to form a part of the city. If we were annexed to Lowell it would take only a few years before we would have sidewalks and streets, as well as sewerage."

"There are over three hundred families in these parts, and the district is bound to grow, more if it were annexed to Lowell. It is also a desirable spot for manufacturing purposes, but as it is no one dare invest any money, the taxes being so high and the accommodations so little. However, you can feel certain that as soon as the road is finished a movement will be started for annexation. Of course we do not know how the Lowell folks will receive our appeal, but nevertheless we will put it up to them, and it will be up to them to either accept or reject the proposition."

Another party who conducts a large business in that part of the town was seen later by the writer and he did not seem much in favor of the project, although it admitted it is not a bad proposition. In his argument against the movement he said, "It is true the tax rate is very high at present time, but in three years the town will be practically overgrown, and then the taxes will be lowered. He said the tax rate in Lowell is much lower than in Dracut, but he is of the opinion that if that part were to be annexed to the city the valuation of the property would increase, and consequently the tax rate would come to about the same. He said he would never favor annexation and in his opinion Lowell would not accept it."

However, there is much talk about this proposition and life long residents of Dracut are in favor of annexation, and a worse something happens to prevent it, a monster petition will be presented to the municipal council of Lowell to make that part of Dracut, a part of Lowell.

State Highway

Although work on the state highway in Merrimack avenue is progressing many of the residents of the district are of the opinion that the snow will fly before the road is opened to traffic. Most of the graveling is done, but there is one part of the road, where it crosses the creek ledge, and they are forced to blast in order to get down a few feet to lay the bottom of the road.

The crusher which is situated in Mt. Pleasant off the Lawrence road is going and has been working for the past ten days, and several tons of crushed stones are now ready to be laid and crushed by the steam roller.

There is plenty of rock for the work, but the question is will the crusher be able to supply the demand after the men start laying the surface of the road.

There are twenty-two double teams carting the gravel to the road and a large shift of men are kept busy laying the gravel. The gravel is being taken from a hill in the rear of what is known as Breezy Point, and there is sufficient quantity to finish the work. The graveling, it is believed, will be done in a week or so.

The Bay State Street Railway company has nearly finished installing new poles along the line and shifting the trolley from one side of the road to the other. In some places the rails were installed much to the delight of the passengers on the cars.

While watching the men work, the writer witnessed a pugilistic encounter which was worthy of publication. Two of the laborers employed by the company got into a tangle over drinking water and they both clinched. They pulled at each other for some time and finally both rolled down the bank, several feet lower, and were fortunate they did not continue to roll into the river. They were clinging to each other, so strongly that only a few blows were exchanged. Finally the foreman who came down to the scene and the disturbers was called to the scene and he quickly separated the fighters.

He gave each a good lecture, telling them they ought to be ashamed of themselves for setting such examples to younger men and finally ordered them to their work, saying if ever they are caught again they will be discharged immediately. This brought the fight to a close and the two men continued working side by side as though nothing had happened.

Will They Accept It?

Some of the residents of Belle Grove recently petitioned the town board commissioners for the acceptance of Merrimack avenue, extending from Merrimack avenue to the old Lawrence road. Shortly afterward the commissioners took a view of the avenue, but they have not as yet made up their mind as to whether they will accept the road and put it in shape, or give the petitioners leave to withdraw. However, they will decide some day.

Summer Campers

Several of the summer residents along the shores of the Merrimack river or near Belle Grove have already started occupying their camps on Saturdays and Sundays. Most of the camps are let and it is believed the bulk of the crowd will remove there by the last of this month or the first of June, while others who have children attending school will not leave the city until the middle of June.

Several new houses are being erected in that locality, and in most of the cases regular dwelling houses are being constructed, so that the occupants will live there the whole year round.

Mr. Flanders who conducts a variety store at Belle Grove, interested the writer by showing his water plant which he had installed recently in the cellar of his home. This consists of a two h. p. gasoline engine, equipped with an air-pump, and a large galvanized water tank, the capacity of which is 125 gallons.

The water is being pumped from the old Lawrence well across the railroad tracks, near the river, a distance of about 150 feet, and three houses are being supplied with fresh cool water. The pump works about twice a week and consumes five gallons of gasoline every other month. The air pump attached to the engine forces the water into the pipes, and a good service results. This is the only plant of this kind in the town and Mr. Flanders is much satisfied with it.

Ice Crop

Inasmuch as the ice man in Belle Grove has announced that the ice crop this year is not as large as that of last year, the residents of the district have petitioned the P. Gaze Co. to supply them with the frozen liquid as soon as the Dracut supply is consumed. Miss Gaze when called on the telephone by the writer relative to the petition, said she has not yet made up her mind as to what she will do, for the district is so far away. However, she said as soon as the supply gives out she will try to supply the district if possible, although she has no surplus of ice this year. Nevertheless if an arrangement can be made in the latter part of the season she will cheerfully do it.

Fire Department

The members of the Dracut Central volunteer fire company held a meeting recently and plans for a fire alarm system were made. The members of the company will install the system, which will allow for a bell in every member's house.

Rupture and Piles Now Curable

Dr. A. W. Turner, a Boston specialist, has published a pamphlet explaining how rupture, piles and all rectal troubles may be cured to stay cured without going to the hospital or using the knife.

Of course all sufferers are interested and letters are coming to the doctor in great numbers from other physicians and from afflicted people.

To all inquirers the doctor sends the pamphlet by mail without charge. The doctor's address is A. W. Turner, M. D., Hotel Pelham, 74 Boylston St., Boston, Mass.

However, there is much talk about this proposition and life long residents of Dracut are in favor of annexation, and a worse something happens to prevent it, a monster petition will be presented to the municipal council of Lowell to make that part of Dracut, a part of Lowell.

State Highway

Although work on the state highway in Merrimack avenue is progressing many of the residents of the district are of the opinion that the snow will fly before the road is opened to traffic. Most of the graveling is done, but there is one part of the road, where it crosses the creek ledge, and they are forced to blast in order to get down a few feet to lay the bottom of the road.

The crusher which is situated in Mt. Pleasant off the Lawrence road is going and has been working for the past ten days, and several tons of crushed stones are now ready to be laid and crushed by the steam roller.

There is plenty of rock for the work, but the question is will the crusher be able to supply the demand after the men start laying the surface of the road.

There are twenty-two double teams carting the gravel to the road and a large shift of men are kept busy laying the gravel. The gravel is being taken from a hill in the rear of what is known as Breezy Point, and there is sufficient quantity to finish the work. The graveling, it is believed, will be done in a week or so.

The Bay State Street Railway company has nearly finished installing new poles along the line and shifting the trolley from one side of the road to the other. In some places the rails were installed much to the delight of the passengers on the cars.

While watching the men work, the writer witnessed a pugilistic encounter which was worthy of publication. Two of the laborers employed by the company got into a tangle over drinking water and they both clinched. They pulled at each other for some time and finally both rolled down the bank, several feet lower, and were fortunate they did not continue to roll into the river. They were clinging to each other, so strongly that only a few blows were exchanged. Finally the foreman who came down to the scene and the disturbers was called to the scene and he quickly separated the fighters.

He gave each a good lecture, telling them they ought to be ashamed of themselves for setting such examples to younger men and finally ordered them to their work, saying if ever they are caught again they will be discharged immediately. This brought the fight to a close and the two men continued working side by side as though nothing had happened.

Will They Accept It?

Some of the residents of Belle Grove recently petitioned the town board commissioners for the acceptance of Merrimack avenue, extending from Merrimack avenue to the old Lawrence road. Shortly afterward the commissioners took a view of the avenue, but they have not as yet made up their mind as to whether they will accept the road and put it in shape, or give the petitioners leave to withdraw. However, they will decide some day.

Summer Campers

Several of the summer residents along the shores of the Merrimack river or near Belle Grove have already started occupying their camps on Saturdays and Sundays. Most of the camps are let and it is believed the bulk of the crowd will remove there by the last of this month or the first of June, while others who have children attending school will not leave the city until the middle of June.

Several new houses are being erected in that locality, and in most of the cases regular dwelling houses are being constructed, so that the occupants will live there the whole year round.

Mr. Flanders who conducts a variety store at Belle Grove, interested the writer by showing his water plant which he had installed recently in the cellar of his home. This consists of a two h. p. gasoline engine, equipped with an air-pump, and a large galvanized water tank, the capacity of which is 125 gallons.

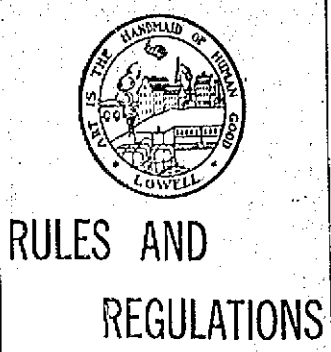

The water is being pumped from the old Lawrence well across the railroad tracks, near the river, a distance of about 150 feet, and three houses are being supplied with fresh cool water. The pump works about twice a week and consumes five gallons of gasoline every other month. The air pump attached to the engine forces the water into the pipes, and a good service results. This is the only plant of this kind in the town and Mr. Flanders is much satisfied with it.

Ice Crop

Inasmuch as the ice man in Belle Grove has announced that the ice crop this year is not as large as that of last year, the residents of the district have petitioned the P. Gaze Co. to supply them with the frozen liquid as soon as the Dracut supply is consumed. Miss Gaze when called on the telephone by the writer relative to the petition, said she has not yet made up her mind as to what she will do, for the district is so far away. However, she said as soon as the supply gives out she will try to supply the district if possible, although she has no surplus of ice this year. Nevertheless if an arrangement can be made in the latter part of the season she will cheerfully do it.

Fire Department

The members of the Dracut Central volunteer fire company held a meeting recently and plans for a fire alarm system were made. The members of the company will install the system, which will allow for a bell in every member's house.

The Lawrence fans think that they have already got the pennant within their grasp and are now wondering when the down river team will be headed. Manager Picher assured them that this year's pennant is a cinch and the worst of it is they believe him down there. There are many games to be played before the conclusion of the season, Mr. Picher.

The sporting writers all around the New England league are up in arms over the recent tough decisions which have been handed out in some of the games. Umpire O'Brien seems to be the man most censured. How about "Red" Rorty? He proved one of the best decision makers that this league has had for years. If Rorty could be procured his appointment would meet with general approval in all the league cities.

Things will be pretty soft for Secretary Cull of the Lowell baseball club if all the players this year who are not needed any longer by Manager Gray release themselves. Smoyer and Weaver did not want to hear the fateful word but preferred to travel along without receiving their blue envelopes. The hardest job that the secretary of any club has is the issuing of releases and the Lowell club's scribe should always keep a warm spot in his heart for the two ball players who insisted on releasing themselves.

The Red Sox and the St. Louis Americans played a game yesterday the total of which were never duplicated in baseball history so far as big league statistics can find. The score was 2 to 2 but in every other respect the totals were the same for both teams. If the game had resulted in a tie the record would doubtless have stood for many years.

The Knights of Columbus have a nucleus for a strong team in Charlie McKenzie, Jim Reilly, Billy King and Harry Drury. In past years this society has placed a very fast aggregation of amateurs in the field and were expecting to hear any day of the formation of a team for this season.

This Terry Brooks is some fighter when it comes a question of outslugging the other fellow. He has a kick in each hand which he can handle from any angle and is only too willing to swap them with an opponent. If Ritchie had ever received one of several sweet wallops which the New Yorkers tried to put over last night no decision would have been needed.

A peculiar condition of affairs has arisen over the schoolboy status of Irving T. Howe, the colored flyer of the Boston English high school. The age limit at which a Boston high school boy may compete has been fixed at 22 years by the committee on high school athletics. Howe reached this age two weeks ago and so under this rule cannot compete for his school again. In the Harvard Intercollegiate the age limit is twenty-one years. Therefore Howe is eligible to run in the games but the school ruling says he cannot compete under her colors. The only way out of the difficulty will be for Howe to run unattached, something that has never been done in these games before.

TWELVE ROUNDS TO DRAW

Brooks and Ritchie at
Acme A. C.

In a twelve round fight in which elbow fighting and wicked kidney punching played a large part, Lee Ritchie of Boston and Terry Brooks of Brooklyn fought a draw before the members of the Acme club at last night's meeting. The manager of Brooks refused to let his man fight unless the club agreed to his demands. He accused Ritchie of being over weight and stipulated that if each man was on his feet at the end of the last round the decision should be a draw. The club granted the request in spite of the spirited clamoring of the spectators for a decision.

Brooks was the aggressor from the start. He carried a punch in each hand and his elbows as well. Ritchie did not lay a glove on him until the fourth round and the only session in which the Boston fighter had a clear advantage was in the sixth. In this round the referee warned Brooks repeatedly about hitting low and using his elbows. Brooks caught Ritchie in this round with his left elbow and nearly closed the latter's eye. The crowd continually yelled for the referee to make Brooks quit his elbow fighting but he was not stopped until Referee Jack MacKenzie warned him twice in the sixth.

Ritchie got to Brooks' features in the latter part of the fight with his left hand jab and kept drawing the crimson fluid from his nose in each round. This did not deter the other for a minute, however, and he forced the fight throughout. It would have been a decision for Brooks if a referee's decision had been decided upon.

Finney Doyle defeated Tony Lorenza of Boston in a semi-final of eight rounds. It was the Lowell boy's right all along. Boyle tried hard to put his opponent down for the count and had him staggering all over the ring and hanging on in several of the rounds.

Billy Brooks gave Young Dufrey a few lusty wallops in the first round of their fight and the latter laid down and took the count. Jack MacKenzie proved a big success as a referee.

Red Sox Defeated Browns

The Red Sox champions defeated St. Louis Americans yesterday in an errorless game by the score of 3 to 2. Hooper's home run with two men on bases in the fifth inning after St. Louis had scored two runs in the second won the game for Boston. Each team got eight hits. Collins pitched a good game with the exception of a bad time in the second inning. Yerkes had a great day in the field accepting seven chances without a slip.

ARTHUR LAVIGNE SIGNS CONTRACT

Popular Catcher Returns
to the Lowell
Team

Arthur Lavigne, last year's regular backstop and one of the most popular ball players that the Lowell club ever had on its roster, has been signed up finally by Manager Gray and it is expected that the addition of this player to the team will immediately be apparent in its defensive powers. Lavigne's arm was well known and appreciated around the circuit, his sure pegging to the bases holding down the fastest base runners in the league.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

Keith's Theatre
The regular season at the B. F. Keith theatre ends tomorrow night, with the presentation of a Sunday entertainment. For this final performance five special acts and six motion picture reels will be presented, and this, like all of the other Sunday shows, will literally be the maximum of entertainment for the minimum of expense. This afternoon and evening the musical comedy in two acts, "It Happened in New York," will be played by a large company, of which George E. and John Gorman are at the head. Joe Elmo, master of the accordion, runs through a long repertoire of classical and popular selections. Los Valadons, slack wire cyclists, do some daring work, and Miss Reilly Muriel, "The Aviator Girl," flies out over the heads of her audience. Ben Farney & Co., called the originators of ragtime, are also on the bill. Good seats may be obtained for the remaining performances. Phone 28.

Merrimack Square Theatre
"Wildfire" the presentation by Grace Young & Co. next week at the Merrimack Square Theatre, is a play that has proved one of the most popular comedy dramas in years. In it Miss Young, Mr. Sydney, Mr. Grady, Miss Winchester and other members of the company are seen to excellent advantage. Patrons of the high priced drama will remember the presentation of this piece in Lowell with the renowned Lilian Russell portraying the same role in which Miss Young will appear. The latter, like Miss Russell, is favorably recognized for her wonderfully hand-drawn stage wardrobe and in this particular presentation will find unusual chance to display some of the very latest creations both in gowns and hats. There's comedy to it—good, clever, sparkling humor that should be handled to the entire satisfaction of those who intend to visit the theatre the coming week. As Matt Donovan, trainer of the "Duffy" stable, Howard Sydney should make of the character one that will please, while "John Garrison," a lover of horses, as played by Walter Scott Weeks, should assist materially in giving that necessary touch to make it altogether enjoyable. An unusually strong Sunday program has been arranged, the feature number being The Hawaiian Four, vocalists and instrumentalists par excellence. Other high priced vaudeville acts and the usual series of new and interesting photo-plays will be given. For week commencing Monday afternoon, May 26, Miss Grace Young & Co. will appear in the great New York success, "The White Sister." A piece in which Miss Young has appeared in during a tour of the South a year ago. Seats two weeks in advance.

Important to Cement Interests.
WASHINGTON, May 17.—The Brazilian government has by decree extended until the end of the current year the preferential treatment of American flour, cement and other articles. This decree is regarded as of the utmost importance to American milling and cement interests.

The American flour trade alone with Brazil amounted to about $3,000,000 per annum and the withholding of the differential would have turned this whole market over to the Argentine millers who are now making a strong bid for it in the face of what virtually is a rebate of 30 per cent. to the American millers.

AMERICAN CRACKS WILL NOT HAVE EASY TIME
DEFEATING AUSTRALIAN TENNIS PLAYERS

NEW YORK, May 17.—The members of the Australian tennis team who recently arrived here to play the Americans in the trial matches for the international Davis cup have mapped out a strenuous schedule for the next two weeks. In fact they will be kept busy until the date of the actual tournament at the West Side Tennis club courts here June 6 and 7. This week they will play in Philadelphia, and on May 21 they will visit Boston. It is planned to have the Australians participate in exhibition matches at Longwood on the afternoons of Monday and Tuesday, May 26 and 27. From Boston the Australians will go to the Flaming

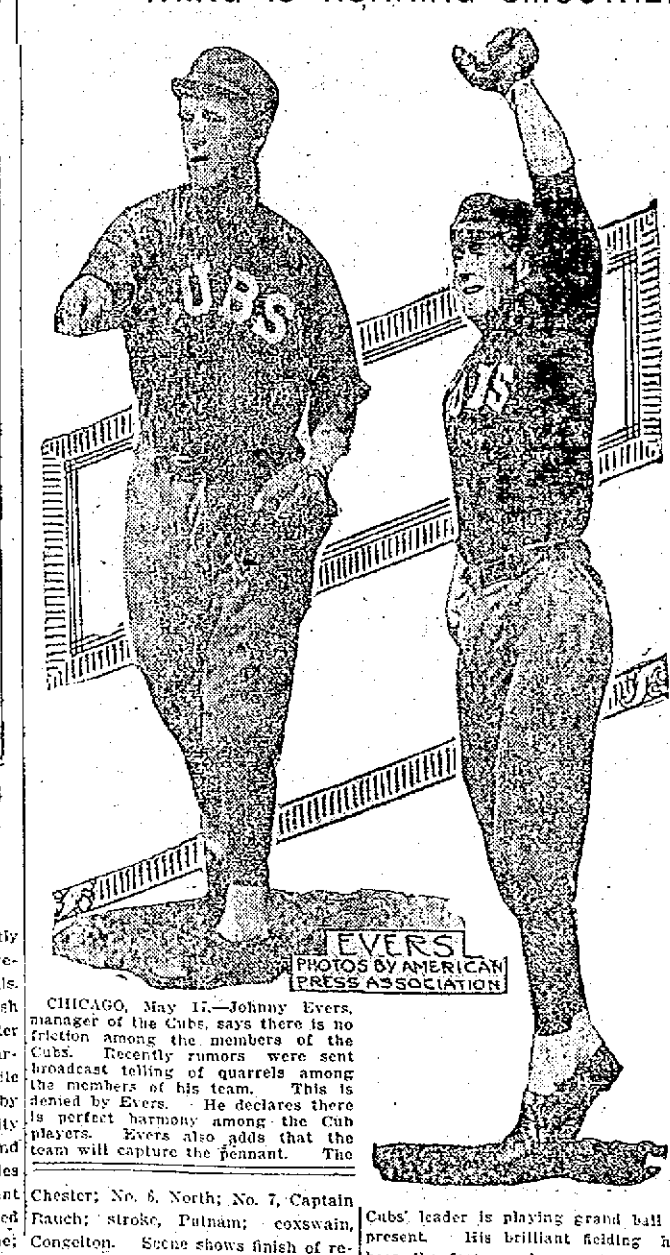

Rock Country club, Locust Valley, N. Y. It is also possible that they will accept the courtesies of the Crescent Athletic club at Bay Ridge. Several of the turf courts at Bay Ridge have been reserved for their practice, and it is expected that they will follow the custom of previous British teams and compete at Bay Ridge. According to advices from Australia A. B. Jones and Horace Rice are the finest players in New South Wales. Jones is particularly strong on volleying, in which he keeps the racquet in a horizontal position by the low stoop of his body, to do which he sacrifices some of the pace he needs. He crosses the court swiftly to intercept an attempted pass, and in the past year he has improved in strokes, stamina and tactics. With Wright he won the New South Wales doubles championship in 1909 and the Metropolitan (Sydney) doubles championship in 1905, 1907, 1909 and 1910. He now holds the singles championship of Queensland and New South Wales and the singles, doubles and mixed doubles of the city of Sydney. Horace Rice is the veteran of the team, having played first class tennis for nearly twenty years. Like Jones, he is strong at volleying, during which his attitude is very tense and full of energy, though restrained through the difficulty in handling the stroke. He also passes a perfect backhand stroke, which is much used in Australia. He is fast, despite his age and covers the court well. Stanley N. Doubt, the captain of the team, is expected to play singles. He has been a resident of England for the past eight years, his most recent performance being a victory with A. F. Wilding in defending the covered courts championship of England from Roper Barrett and Arthur W. Gore. E. W. Hicks is manager of the team and also a player of note.

PRINCETON REPRESENTED ON WATER
BY POWERFUL VARSITY EIGHT CREW

PRINCETON, N. J., May 17.—Rowing enthusiasts here are highly elated over the Tiger varsity eight, which won from Harvard and Pennsylvania on the Charles river recently. Experts here declare this year's crew is one of the strongest in the country. Princeton's next and last race of the season will be against Columbia and Annapolis on Lake Carnegie May 17. Princeton's victory over Harvard and Penn was well merited. The Orange and Black proved itself the best crew by overcoming a very disadvantageous start. Before ten strokes had been

MANAGER EVERS SAYS EVERYTHING IS RUNNING SMOOTHLY

CHICAGO, May 17.—Johnny Evers, manager of the Cubs, says there is no friction among the members of the team. Recently rumors were sent broadcast telling of quarrels among the members of his team. This is denied by Evers. He declares there is perfect harmony among the Cub players. Evers also adds that the team will capture the pennant. The Cubs' leader is playing grand ball at present. His brilliant fielding has been the feature of a number of the Cubs' games.

MEAGHER GUARDS HELD DANCE

Entertained Large Gathering in Associate Hall

Hall

A magnificent attendance, excellent music and the general good fellowship which prevailed combined to make the annual social and dance of the Meagher Guards held in Associate hall last evening a social and a financial success. The hall was actually crowded with both spectators and dancers, all of whom found ample enjoyment. The members of the military organization were in dress uniforms and presented an attractive appearance.

The music was furnished by Kittredge's orchestra, and their work was highly commended. The dance order contained the announcements of twenty numbers including two steps, waltzes, five steps and the rest. Besides there were several extras and the orchestra was generous with encores. Commendation is due Captain John J. Higgins, the general manager of the event, for the capable manner in which he directed the social, and much of his success was due to his co-workers and aids.

The party was brought to a conclusion at a late hour when the final "Home, Sweet Home" was played and everyone went homeward with the pleasant memory of a very enjoyable evening. The officers in charge of the affair were as follows: General manager, Capt. John J. Higgins; assistant general manager, First Lieut. Charles J. O'Brien; floor marshal, Thomas J. Cunningham; chief aids, Thomas Sheehy and John J. Curran; aids, Patrick Martin, William F.
